EMILIANO ZAPATA

Emiliano Zapata, c.1870-1919, Mexican revolutionary. An Indian peasant farmer, he tried to restore (1905) expatriated Mayan lands, and he led (1910-11) an army of Indians in the Mexican revolution with the goal of organizing the land. In defiance of this program, he fought federal governments and largely controlled S. Mexico. His army occupied Mexico City three times (1884-15), but he finally retired to Mexico, where he was eventually killed by a government emissary. Zapata is still revered by Mexican Indians.
